

The Blue Jay chirps like a hawk, especially the Red-shouldered Hawk.

The chicks have no feathers until they are about 17-21 days old.

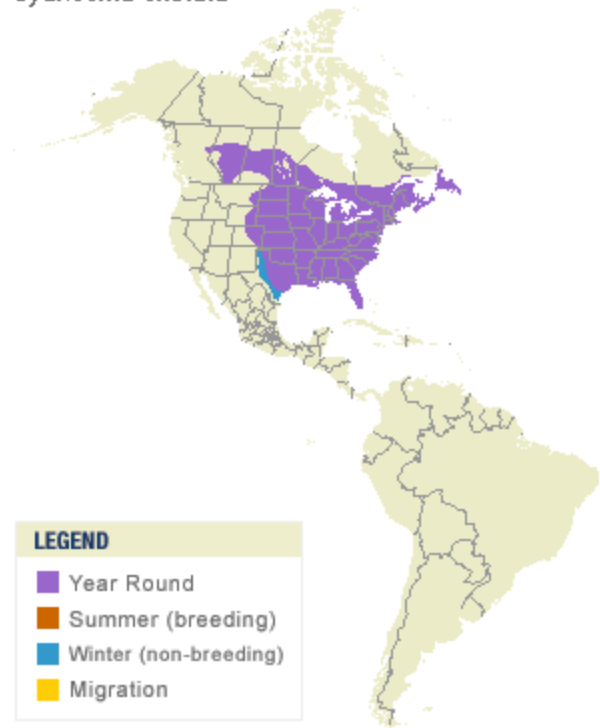

There are usually 2 – 7 eggs in the Nest and the nests are made of Grass, twigs, and sometimes mud.

They have light brown spots with a Tanish colored shell

Blue Jay
Cyanocitta cristata

Map by Cornell Lab of Ornithology
Range data by NatureServe

This map shows where they go and why.